

Mark Nelson Jr's Statement of Interest:

I started my journey in this industry as a teenager working for my parents. (That was back when I thought I knew more than my dad.) Just over 20 years ago we discovered The National Society of Accountants and I have been a member ever since. NSA has since played a vital role in my professional development. Particularly in my early years I silently followed Tax Talk trying to soak up as much information and learn as much as I could. It was there that I learned how to research. Researching the citations and not simply accepting the commentary or opinions given has been what has fueled my growth.

Now it's my turn to give back to the organization that has helped me get to the place I am now.
